Ocean County Library to Host Science Fiction Author

LONG BEACH ISLAND – Will robots one day try to dominate us? Would any have second thoughts? Science fiction author Frank Andriuli discusses the possibilities, Saturday, September 15, 2 PM, at the Ocean County Library Long Beach Island Branch, 217 S. Central Avenue, Surf City.

In Andriuli's new novel, "The People Factory," androids begin to create their own agendas. When an ex-military officer discovers it, his android Vanessa is torn between the government that created her, and the owner she's bound to protect.

Registration is required for the free discussion. Call the Long Beach Island Branch, 609-494-2480, or visit the "Events" calendar at <http://www.theoceancountylibrary.org>.
