TOMS RIVER –Thriller writer, poet and editor Kit Frick will discuss her world of creativity as a featured guest of the Ocean County Library's "Dive Into YA: It's Not Just for Teens" virtual discussions, 6 PM Thursday, September 16.

The chat series aims to show how real issues, vivid writing, diverse characters and imaginative concepts propel Young Adult literature beyond traditional age categories.

Ms. Frick won awards and accolades for 2018's I Killed Zoe Spanos, her third taut romantic mystery. It was preceded by All Eyes On Us and See All the Stars. Her next novel, Very Bad People, is scheduled for publication in April, 2022.

Her poetry compilations include A Small Rising Up in the Lungs; Kill Your Darlings, Clementine; and Echo, Echo, Light. She edits a nationally-distributed chapbook series, and operates an independent editing service and studio for aspiring writers.

The series is presented in partnership with Booktowne, Manasquan, NJ. Attendees will receive a 10% discount for Booktowne that can be used through their website.
