Learn Estate Planning Fundamentals at Ocean County Library Jackson Branch

JACKSON – Organizing one’s assets in the present will help beneficiaries in the future to navigate financial and legal matters. The Ocean County Library Jackson Branch will present “Estate Planning, Wills and Probate,” 2:30 PM Wednesday, February 8.

The overview will be presented by attorney and retired Superior Court Judge Daniel D’Alessandro, of the New Jersey State Bar Foundation (NJSBF).

Founded in 1958, NJSBF’s mission is to foster knowledge of New Jersey’s legal system among residents, serve as a public resource center for law-related education, encourage interaction between attorneys and residents, and foster pride in the legal profession.

Please register at www.theoceancountylibrary.org/events for this free program. The Jackson Branch is at 2 Jackson Drive. For information, call (732) 928-4400.
